

NEWS FROM FAMILY PROMISE OF BRYAN-COLLEGE STATION

Aimée Myers Named Director

Aimée Myers will begin work as the new director of Family Promise of Bryan-College Station on July 7.

Aimée, who has been an advocate for families all her professional life, says she is thrilled to be moving from Pennsylvania to be a part of starting up Family Promise in Bryan-College Station. Aimée was trained in structural family therapy and multi-system therapy and has worked with families providing in-home therapy for the past 7 years in both therapeutic and program director positions. She has an M.A. degree in counseling, is a Nationally Certified Counselor, and is a Licensed Professional Counselor in Pennsylvania.

Aimée has also worked as a career and education counselor while living overseas. Aimée has lived in Japan and England, spent most of her childhood in Guinea, West Africa, and her summers in Brazil. Aimée and her family will be joining Aimée's father, Norman Earl Myers (Texas A&M '65), stepmother, Renata Myers, an artist and musician, and her brothers Christopher and Ian in College Station.

Aimée's family—husband Nathaniel Raney, MBA, daughter Zoë (9 years old) and son Liam (4 years old)—is looking forward to getting to know the College Station community, rekindling family relationships, and enjoying the hot Texas weather! Aimée enjoys gardening, house projects and decorating, being outdoors, walking, reading, spending time with her family and hosting family celebrations.

DID YOU KNOW?

In calendar year 2007 Family Promise nationwide served 3,100 families, which included 5,723 children 46% of whom were 5 or younger.
